Corporate Overview

Artnix, Inc. is a Digital Video Recorder (DVR) Manufacturing company founded in 1997 with venture capital whose sole focus is developing and manufacturing the best DVRs possible. Artnix employs a team of world-class image compression, multi-dimensional signal processing, networking and multimedia engineers to produce innovative and unique solutions related to digital video recorders and facial recognition applications.

Together with its 52 partners throughout the world, Artnix continually refines and improves its digital recording solutions to better serve its demanding client base including government projects demanding the most rigorous adherence to critical large-scale project requirements. Artnix has deployed its solutions in mission-critical environments where even the slightest error can be fatal.

While there are many digital video recorders on the market today only a few offer systems that are reliable enough to be trusted in critical, secure locations. Artnix systems are already being used in state and city government organizations. Artnix latest development is a facial detection and recognition solution that can be deployed in many environments such as construction areas, ports, and any area where identity detection is of the highest importance.
