Corporate Overview

DDWIZ Co., Ltd is a Korea-based high-technology firm established in 2004 to address the requirements of monitoring and tracking vehicles and ships. In 2005 the company began selling its CM-100 Vehicle Traveling Data Recorder in Asia and in 2006 received 2 patents for its Integrated Maritime Safety Terminal device. DDWIZ CO. primary areas of business are: development, manufacture and sales of 'black box' vehicle and ship traveling data recorders, ship navigation data recorders, and terrestrial DMB systems. The company also provides traveling record analysis and controlling systems, telematics and application service systems.

DDWIZ CO., maintains offices in Korea, and China where its products are already established in these marketplaces. In May 2006 DDWIZ concluded a three-way agreement for technology development and joint venture industrialization with the Korean Register of Shipping, the 709th Research Institute, and the China Ship Building Industry Corporation.

As the need for monitoring and managing cargo, ports, vehicles and ships continues to grow, DDWIZ products offer compelling value at about 1/3 the price of competitors products.
