Corporate Overview

Founded in 1971, UNIMO Technology (formerly Kuk Jae Electronics Co.) was the first Korean company to develop Industrial Portable Radios. Based on its own in-house technological expertise, it launched its first radios in 1975. In 1976, UNIMO developed its first Mobile Radios and in 1991 it established its first manufacturing plant outside of Korea. UNIMO has co-developed technology with leading wireless industry leaders such as Ericsson/GE for the TRS Terminals.

With over 36 years of experience developing communications equipment, UNIMO is well positioned to help you design and build the critical communications system that is right for your organization. UNIMO's experience includes: Land Mobile Radios – VHF & UHF Two-way portable (PF,PJ, PK, series certified CE, FCC, IP-54 and Mil-std 810 E/F); One-way voice pagers (VP series, earphone type); Mobile Radios (UM); Semi-Industrial Radios; TETRA terminals, Radio over IP. UNIMO devices are used in more than 50 countries.
